

Feminist Studies Course Offerings - Fall 2009

Concentrations listed at left margin: 1 = Culture, Power, and Representation. Focuses on representation as both political and aesthetic. Situates the study of everyday life practices and cultural forms in the context of larger political and historical relations.

2 = Law, Politics, and Social Change. Examines social change through legal, economic, and political processes. Emphasizes movements for social justice and struggles over gender, race, class, and sexuality.

3 = Science, Technology, and Medicine. Explores how science, technology, and medicine reshape relations of power and knowledge. Highlights the centrality of ethical concerns and values in the scientific production of gendered, raced, and sexed bodies. (Note: students may petition to take one lower division or upper-division course in the sciences for the concentration with the approval of their faculty advisor).

4 = Sexuality Studies. Examines institutions and power relations through the category of sexuality. Explores bodies and practices across geographical and cultural borders.

Key: C = Core, G = Graduate

A. Courses acceptable for Feminist Studies credit.

1,2	Feminist Stu	112	Women & the Law (x-listed as POLI 112)	G. Dent
3,4	Feminist Stu	124	Technologies of Latinidad	F. Schaeffer-Grabiel
3	Feminist Stu	194D*	Feminist Science Studies	K. Barad
G	FMST/LALS	240	Culture and Politics of Human Rights	R. Fregoso
2	Anthropology	194X*	Women in Politics: Third World Perspectives	A. Kramer
2,4	American Stu	157	Tracing Queer Latina/o Diaspora	S. Zepeda
2,3	Community Stu	161	Women's Health Activism	A. Steiner
1,2	History	113C	Women and American Religious Culture	M. Westerkamp
2,3	LALS	175	Migration, Gender, and Health	P. Zavella
1,2	Psychology	140G	Women's Lives in Context	S. Grabe
1,2	Sociology	144	Sociology of Women	C. West
2,4	Sociology	149	Sex and Gender	F. Guerra
1	Theater Arts	161T	Women in Theater	P. Gallagher

B. Courses acceptable for credit by petition and special arrangement by the instructor.

4	Community Stu	152	Mediating Desire	M. Ochoa
2	History	106B	Asian & Asian American Hist, 1914-Present	A. Yang
2	History	115B	US Labor & WorkingClass Hist, 1919-Present	D. Frank
2	Sociology	111	Family and Society	W. Martyna
2,3	Sociology	121	Sociology of Health and Medicine	J. Reardon

C. Courses acceptable to satisfy the 80-level requirement.

C	Feminist Stu	80A	Feminism and Social Justice	B. Aptheker
C	Feminist Stu	80B	Sexuality and Globalization	F. Schaeffer-Grabiel
C	FMST/MUSC	80S	Women and Music	T. Merchant
C	Biology	80A	Female Physiology and Gynecology	M. Zavanelli

* A senior seminar. May be used to fulfill the Feminist Studies senior exit requirement.

Last Updated: 8/05/09 nc

Feminist Studies Course Offerings - Winter 2010

D R A F T

Concentrations listed at left margin: 1 = Culture, Power, and Representation. Focuses on representation as both political and aesthetic. Situates the study of everyday life practices and cultural forms in the context of larger political and historical relations.

2 = Law, Politics, and Social Change. Examines social change through legal, economic, and political processes. Emphasizes movements for social justice and struggles over gender, race, class, and sexuality.

3 = Science, Technology, and Medicine. Explores how science, technology, and medicine reshape relations of power and knowledge. Highlights the centrality of ethical concerns and values in the scientific production of gendered, raced, and sexed bodies. (Note: students may petition to take one lower division or upper-division course in the sciences for the concentration with the approval of their faculty advisor).

4 = Sexuality Studies. Examines institutions and power relations through the category of sexuality. Explores bodies and practices across geographical and cultural borders.

Key: C = Core, G = Graduate

A. Courses acceptable for Feminist Studies credit.

C	Feminist Stu	100	Feminist Theories	N. Atanasoski
2,4	Feminist Stu	115	Gender, Sexuality & Transnational Migration	F. Schaeffer-Grabiell
3	Feminist Stu	133	Science and The Body	K. Barad
1	Feminist Stu	194F*	Chicana/Latina Cultural Production	F. Schaeffer-Grabiell
4	Feminist Stu	194M*	Empire and Sexuality	A. Arondekar
2,4	Feminist Stu	194N*	Gender, Class and Sex in Shanghai (x-listed as HIS 194A)	E. Honig
G	Feminist Stu	214	Feminist Science Studies	K. Barad
G	FMST/HISC	264	The Idea of Africa	G. Dent
1,2	American Stu	123F	Native American Women	R. Ramirez
4	Anthropology	126	Sexuality and Society	C. Shaw
1,2	Anthropology	131	Women in Cross Culture Perspective	A. Kramer
4	Community Stu	100X	Sex, Gender, and Sexuality	M. Ochoa
2	Economics	183	Women in Economy	Staff
2	Education	135	Gender and Education	C. Cruz
1,2	LALS	144	Chicanas/Mexicanas in the U.S.	G. Arredondo
1	LTEL	180H	Women's Literature	H. Moglen
2	Psychology	159M^	Transnational Feminism	S. Grabe
1,2	Sociology	120	Feminisms and Cultural Politics	J. Bettie

B. Courses acceptable for credit by petition and special arrangement by the instructor.

1,2	Psychology	140B	African American Psychology	A. White
1,2	Psychology	153	Psychology of Poverty and Social Class	H. Bullock
2	Sociology	142	Language and Social Interaction	W. Martyna
2,3	Sociology	152	Body and Society	F. Guerra

C. Courses acceptable to satisfy the 80-level requirement.

C	Feminist Stu	80F	Feminisms of/and the Global South	A. Arondekar
---	--------------	-----	-----------------------------------	--------------

* A senior seminar. May be used to fulfill the Feminist Studies senior exit requirement.

^ Course may be taken for concentration or elective credit only, not as senior exit requirement.

Last Updated: 5/5/09 nc

Feminist Studies Course Offerings - Spring 2010

D R A F T

Concentrations listed at left margin: 1 = Culture, Power, and Representation. Focuses on representation as both political and aesthetic. Situates the study of everyday life practices and cultural forms in the context of larger political and historical relations.

2 = Law, Politics, and Social Change. Examines social change through legal, economic, and political processes. Emphasizes movements for social justice and struggles over gender, race, class, and sexuality.

3 = Science, Technology, and Medicine. Explores how science, technology, and medicine reshape relations of power and knowledge. Highlights the centrality of ethical concerns and values in the scientific production of gendered, raced, and sexed bodies. (Note: students may petition to take one lower division or upper-division course in the sciences for the concentration with the approval of their faculty advisor).

4 = Sexuality Studies. Examines institutions and power relations through the category of sexuality. Explores bodies and practices across geographical and cultural borders.

Key: C = Core, G = Graduate

A. Courses acceptable for Feminist Studies credit.

1,2	Feminist Stu	145	Racial and Gender Formations in the U.S.	A. Arondekar
2	Feminist Stu	1940*	Politics of Gender and Human Rights	N. Atanasoski
G	Feminist Stu	201	Topics in Feminist Methodologies	A. Arondekar
G	Feminist Stu	225A	Theories of Slavery (x-listed as HISC 205A)	A. Davis
1,3	Psychology	140L	Women's Bodies/Psychology of Well-Being	S. Grabe
2,4	Psychology	140Q	Social Psychology of Sex and Gender	C. Leaper
2,3,4	Psychology	159D ^	Psychology of Sexual Aggression	E. Zurbriggen

B. Courses acceptable for credit by petition and special arrangement by the instructor.

1,2	LALS	166	Latino Families in Transition	P. Zavella
1,2	Sociology	129	Popular Culture and Cultural Studies	J. Bettie
2,3	Sociology	150	Sociology of Death and Dying	W. Martyna

C. Courses acceptable to satisfy the 80-level requirement.

C	Feminist Stu	80K	Feminism and Science	K. Barad
C	Feminist Stu	80P	War in Film and Culture	N. Atanasoski
C	Biology	80A	Female Physiology and Gynecology	M. Zavanelli
C	History	80Y	World War II Memories in the U.S. and Japan	A. Yang
C	LALS	80G	Race, Class, and Gender	S. Gleeson
C	LALS	80H	Comparative Latina/o Histories	G. Arredondo

* A senior seminar. May be used to fulfill the Feminist Studies senior exit requirement.

^ Course may be taken for concentration or elective credit only, not as senior exit requirement.

Last Updated: 8/5/09 nc